The amazing story of the three little pigs BEFORE they meet the big bad wolf!

Mommy Pig is very worried—her three little piggies are driving her crazy.

The clock has struck midnight, and no piper can make them go to sleep. Even with the help of the Fairy Godmother, a little orphan girl can't manage to babysit them.

Faced with the seven dwarfs, the three little piggies get rough. And at school, where they act up and are disrespectful, Mr. Puss has had it up to his boots.

That's enough! It's high time for the three of them to leave the house. As long as they come back to visit their mommy... but not too often!

My Big Family

Séverine Vidal & Sophie Vissière

Available
17 x 20,9 cm
32 pages - Softback
€ 5.95

An ode to the big families we make for ourselves

At 2 Butterfly Street, my family is tiny: just my mom, my big brother Jojo, and me. At 108B Zebulon Street, my family has to squeeze a bit more into our apartment. That's where my dad and his wife, Prudence, live. There are also my stepmother's two daughters she adopted from far away: Romi and Nell.

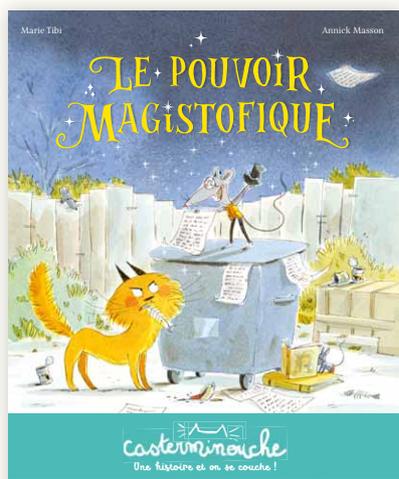

My family is also my godmother and her partner.

And if you include our neighbor, Mr. Zephyr, who picks me up from school when Mommy is late and Simona, who lives three houses down and makes the best peanut butter waffles in the world, well, then my family is pretty big!

An essential and contemporary topic praising openness and strong bonds. Features Sophie Vissière's unique illustration style using stencils painted in watercolor with a foam roller and retouched with colored pencils.

A feminist story that attacks the absurdities of language!

The young Lily Desiguere is definitely not faint-hearted: she comes to her school's carnival dressed up as a knight, or rather a "knight-ess."

When she is told that word "knight-ess" does not exist, she goes on a crusade against the dictionary! Her school friends think of other words they could change to include both girls and boys so that they can use them proudly.

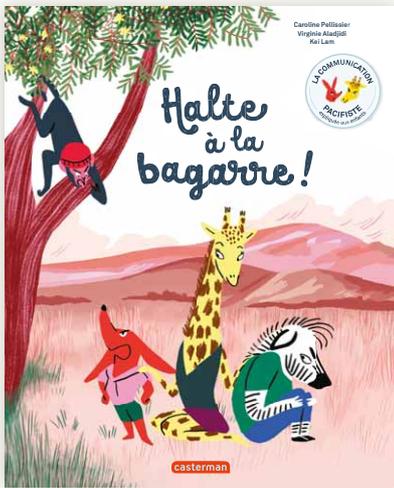

In the end, her classmates decide they too want to proudly bear certain titles, no matter whether they are girls or boys... they can count on Lily, ready to defend them and change things for the good!

A story rooted in everyday life, on the playground, with all of its surprises.

Nino and Zoe's Haunted House

Anais Vachez & Nancy Peña

Five stories full of mysteries...

An appealing gothic ambiance supported with color illustrations by Nancy Peña.

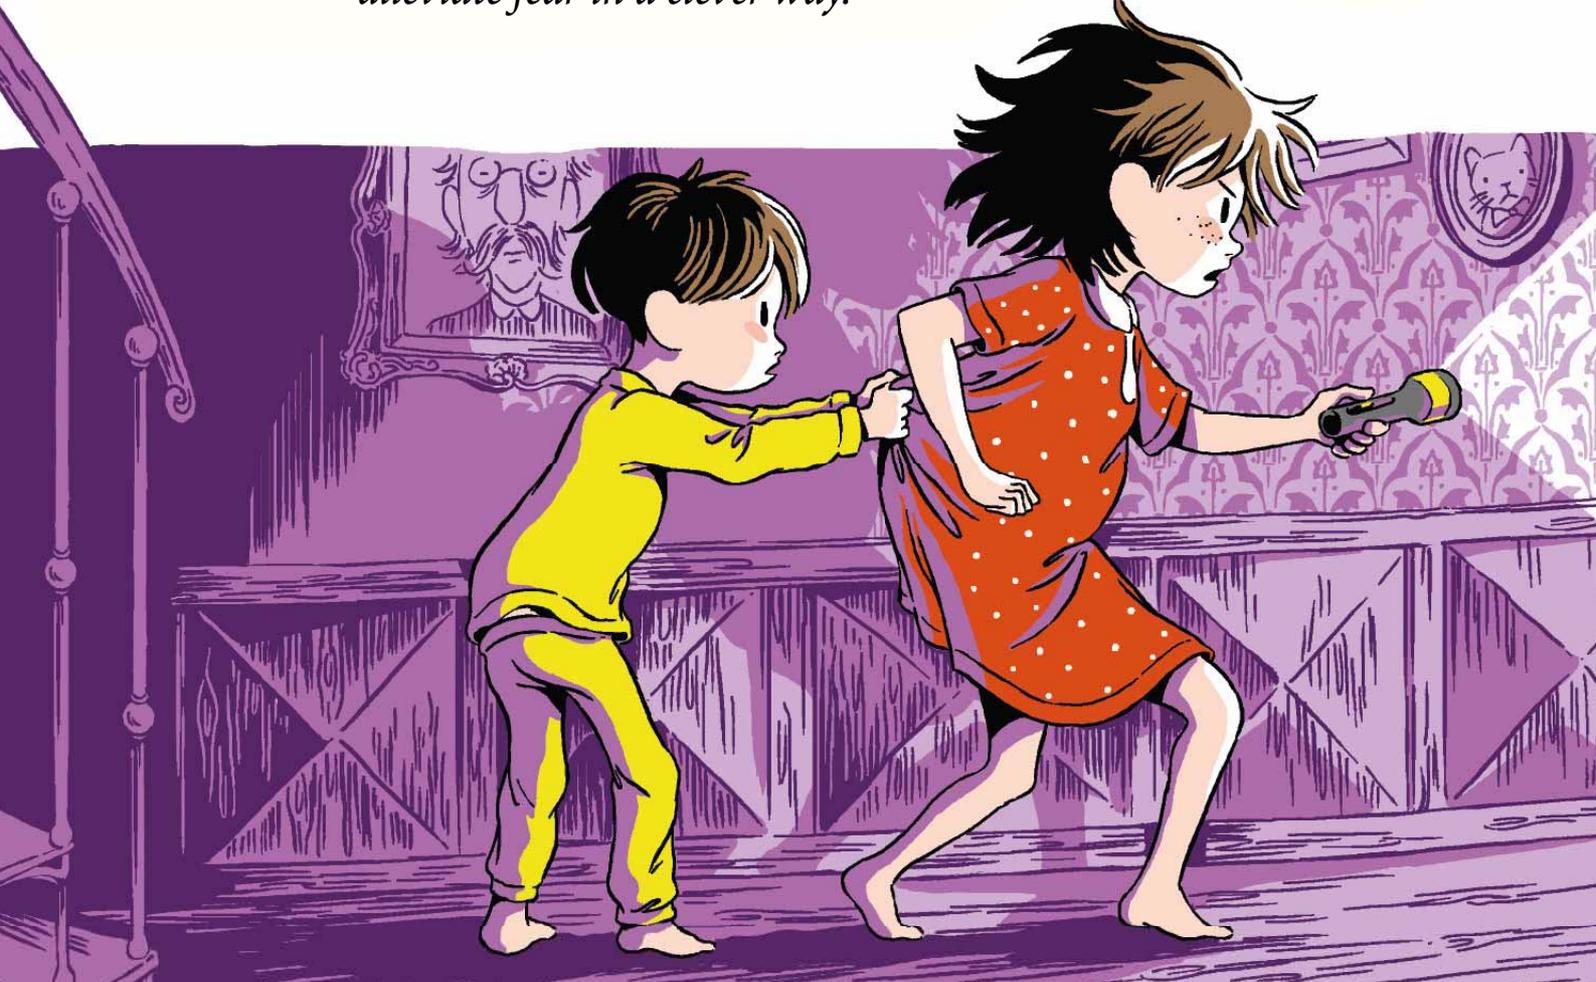

Zoe, age 10, and Nino, age 8, move into a strange house, in a village that's even more strange... Readers will join them in five stories full of suspense and the supernatural.

A piano that plays on its own at nighttime, a doll that starts moving on its own, a wishing well with a face that appears at the bottom of it, a creepy cemetery, and a disturbing monster that roams the streets of the village.

Available
15 x 20,3 cm
64 pages
€ 6.95

But not to worry: there must be a reasonable explanation behind every mystery! The five stories in this work include: "The Piano," "The Junk Shop," "The Doll," "The Well," and "The Tomb."

Slightly scary stories that end well and alleviate fear in a clever way.

Keo and the Magic Sword Vol. 1 - The Orcs' Prisoner

Paul Beorn & Alexandre Cochez

May 2022
15 x 20,3 cm
64 pages
€ 6.95

A new heroic fantasy series full of extraordinary adventures! All the trademarks of the genre adapted for first readers, written by a Lord of the Rings superfan.

Keo lives in the kingdom of Acadia. A world full of magic, but also dangerous monsters... On the day Keo turns ten, his village is attacked by terrifying orc warriors with green skin and disgusting growls. The boy is the only one to escape being captured. But in his most desperate moment, he happens to find a magic sword... that starts talking to him!

Named "Light," this sword has been the orcs' prisoner until now. It will become Keo's best ally to save his village, his family, and his friends.

Magnificent, colorful illustrations that immerse readers in an extraordinary world.

Vol. 2 - The Devourer of Magic

Paul Beorn & Alexandre Cochez

May 2022
15 x 20,3 cm
64 pages
€ 6.95

Recently, Keo and his friends have heard a rumor... a ghost has taken up residence in the village and has announced that a terrible disaster is coming.

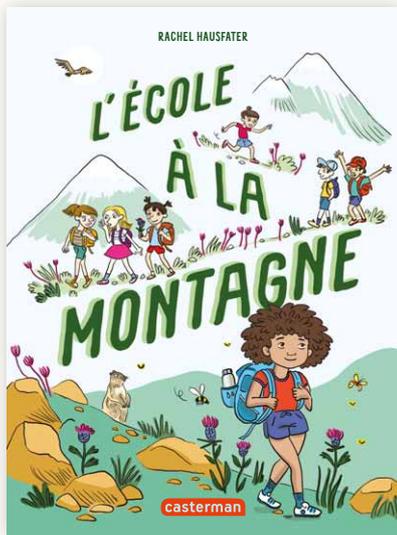

The disaster doesn't take long to reach them: a dragon from the mountains appears and demands that the villagers hand over Light, Keo's sword, so that he can devour its magic.

The terrified villagers go against Keo by accepting the dragon's request and giving the monster the sword. But our hero hasn't had his last word... and it may well be that the village "ghost" will join forces with Keo to save Light!

A pair of loveable heroes: Keo, a boy the same age as readers, and Light, a funny and surprising sword-sidekick.

School on the Mountain

Rachel Hausfater & Caroline Ayrault

Mamilla discovers a mountain for the first time...
with her whole class!

Mamilla can't believe it: she and her class are going on a school trip! They will have a whole week together like a real family!

For someone who's never gone anywhere, in summer or winter, it's a big adventure. From the first day of the trip, Mamilla will discover one thing after another: the crazy bus ride to get to the top of the mountain, the dormitories where the kids play jokes on each other, the hike with its endless climb that lasts all day... but above all, the most amazing discovery: the beauty of the sky, the freedom of nature, and the joy of belonging.

March 2022

96 pages
€ 6.95

A story about nature and freedom that shows how even shy kids can reach high points.

My Barefoot Tribe

Vol. 1 - So Long, Sidewalks!

Stéphane Nicolet

Available
14,5 x 21 cm
192 pages
€ 9,90

The truth about life in the country: being in harmony with nature isn't calming when you're a hardcore city dweller!

The Papaïoannou family lead a near-normal life in the Pink Flamingos housing project—until the day their dad, Achille, sets the apartment on fire (a tragedy caused by crêpes flambées). Having lost everything, Dad, Mom, two brothers, and Séléné (the youngest and only girl, who narrates the story) have just one solution: moving to their Grandpa's house in the country, in “La Sauvetat-sur-bédoule”—in other words, the middle of nowhere.

A new life in the fresh air awaits our hardcore city dwellers: saving the crops from slugs, swimming in the rotten water of the lake, fishing for crayfish with their fingers... but above all, slowing down to enjoy the grass between their toes!

A novel about family full of funny, endearing characters that readers can't get enough of.

Vol. 2 - Badger Passion

Stéphane Nicolet

available
14,5 x 21 cm
192 pages
€ 9,90

What happens to the barefoot tribe after several months in the countryside? The family of ex-city dwellers is back!

Autumn is here and Selene realizes that she has changed since she her family moved to the countryside. The proof? She has a pet hat named “Nonchalance”. What's more, she is secretly maintaining a rather niche Instagram account... dedicated to badgers!

But Selene isn't the only one to have developed peculiar habits after several months away from everything: Grandpa has abandoned his pitiful vegetable garden for pure survivalism, little Apollo speaks with a strange accent, Helios pretends to be a pretty boy from the city, and their mother psychanalyses the local hunters... Whatever the season, the Papaïoannou family is always just as crazy.

An hilarious series full of fresh air and quirky illustrations.

A myth truer than real life that plays on children's fear of monsters with terrifying characters that will mark the imagination

A forgotten cabin deep in the forest, a hungry monster... it's worse than your worst nightmare!

Charlene is anything but excited to spend two days with the Hecates: ever since meeting them, the sinister couple has been monopolizing her parents' time and attention. But what's worse is their children, the Hecate twins. Charlene does not get along with Sinn and Selene at all—they make her nervous. What's more, she finds out that she has to sleep in a cabin deep in the forest with them.

Charlene quickly realizes that there is something else going on behind this weekend "with friends." Something terrible that has to do with the full moon and the mist covering the forest...

By changing her appearance, Cora will change her destiny forever.

The birth of a powerful, charismatic heroine and her quest for justice in the face of bloodthirsty bandits.

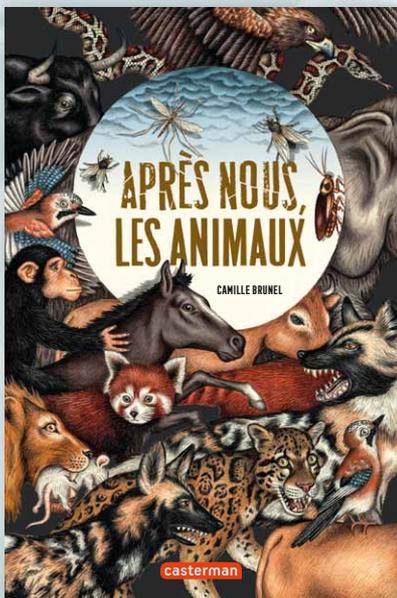

Ever since she was a child, Corazón has been a faceless orphan: ever since the day the Spider, the worst bandit in the Sierra Madre, killed her parents and left her disfigured. She grew up rejected by all while her sister, Bella, became the most beautiful girl in the village. But when Cora leaves to take exile in the mountains, she meets an old blind woman who can sense the goodness and courage inside her. The old woman will offer her a chance to choose a new appearance in the Lake of 1,000 Faces.

When Cora learns that the Spider is back and spreading terror in the village, she is transformed... and ready to take revenge.

A magical adventure story full of Mexican mythology that will thrill readers. Enchanted settings and exciting action scenes

In 2086, the human species becomes extinct.
But that leaves everyone else.

In a world devastated by viruses, only wild animals are left. Some circus animals find themselves loaded onto a boat by the last living humans. It was said that northern Canada had been relatively spared and could be repopulated. But the thirteen men and women did not survive the journey.

This is where our story truly begins: when the boat washes up on the Mexican coast, three bulls, one cow, four elephants, a panther, and a python step onto the shore. To face this strange and savage new world, these animals will have to work together despite their differences.

A beautifully written post-apocalyptic odyssey.

Believe it or not, less than 100 years ago, a “human zoo” was a popular attraction in Paris.

A story inspired by a real event: the exhibition of the Kanak people during the Colonial Exhibition of 1931.

New Caledonia, 1931.

Edou is a young adventurous Kanak. So the day when some members of his tribe are chosen for a special mission to Paris, he joins the group without thinking. Their mission will be to show the French people how they live, their customs, and their talents. For Edou, it is above all a chance to travel to a distant land and discover the capital that dreams are made of. But his disillusion is great: no sooner have the young man and his fellow tribe members arrived when they are moved... into a cage with a sign labelling them as “CANNIBALS.”

A shocking novel showing the culture and savagery of men: the “savages” are not the ones you think.

Right in line with Sweet Sixteen, Annelise Heurtier offers a memorable historical tale. Includes a preface by Pascal Blanchard, a historian specializing in colonialism.

A strong appeal for children and their parents: a double-page comic for each artwork.

Lina and Nino, two young curious heroes, travel through time and around the world to take readers on an adventure to learn about the greatest moments in art history. From the paleolithic painters in the Lascaux cave to the installations of Annette Messager, from the Renaissance with Michelangelo to Monet's Impressionism, from Leonardo da Vinci's famous Mona Lisa to Andy Warhol's pop art, the children will go behind the scenes of the creation and reception of the world's greatest artworks alongside the artists themselves, depicted with panache.

Each of the 27 works is approached in a double-page comic spread contextualized with a reproduction of the work. A timeline at the bottom of each page includes important events in history. With this comic book, art history is child's play!

Art history from a child's perspective helps readers learn to identify artworks and become familiar with the subject, featuring Théo Calmèjane's illustrations tailored for young readers.

A playful, fascinating initiation into the mysterious world of forests, which need protection now more than ever!

After Evolution, The Evolution of Humans and Oceans, our favorite foursome (a scientist who uses simple, yet precise language, a whimsical storyteller, and two smart, curious children) head off to explore forests!

Over the course of a walk through European, tropical, and northern forests, our heroes learn about the live cycles of trees, the diversity of forests and how they have changed over centuries, the richness of forest flora and fauna, as well as the threats posed to them today, such as deforestation and wildfires.

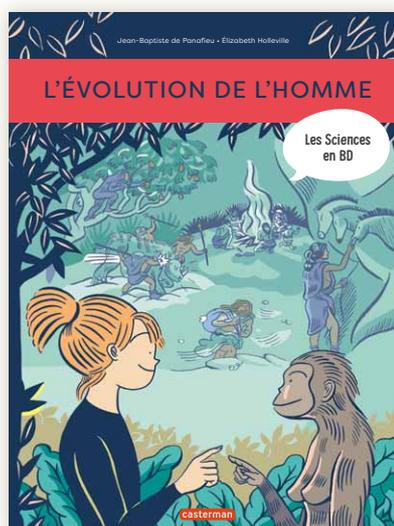

Protecting forests and their biodiversity is an important issue, brought to life with a touch of humor in this non-fiction graphic novel that brings together four colorful characters.

A strong nature topic that playfully helps children learn about the environment, with a planned release for World Forest Day (March 21)
